

Residual energy density R_{00} approaches zero with increasing distance to the nearest matter concentration

